WELCOME

The Annual Meeting is a chance for energy professionals to meet with customers and colleagues and discuss and exchange ideas on matters of importance affecting the industry. The relaxed yet professional environment provides a perfect setting in which delegates can further the relationships and skills necessary for effective management and leadership.

This event began in 1978 as the Nationwide Transportation & Exchange Conference under the direction of Midwest Gas Association. As attendance at the conference and the role of T&E continued to increase the Conference Planning Committee elected to incorporate as a separate entity in 1986 and host the conference as the Annual Meeting of the National Transportation & Exchange Association. The association name changed to National Gas Transportation Association in 1989 due to the increase in the marketing function and the decreased role of exchange in natural gas. In 1996 the name was changed to its present incarnation when deregulation of the electric industry impacted the core business of the natural gas industry making it more commodity based. After a four-year conference hiatus during the industry down-turn in 2001 the Association optimistically resurrected its signature event to provide energy professionals a forum to discuss the new business environment in an ever-changing industry full of obstacles and opportunities.

Our 2011 Annual Meeting Program celebrates 30 years of “Excellence in Education” hosted by National Energy Services Association. We hope that you will take the opportunity to join NESAS for this exciting and enlightening exchange of information as we continue to offer quality, cost-effective “Education & Networking for the Energy Professional.”

It is our pleasure to announce NESAS’s 30th Annual Meeting will be held October 5 thru 7, 2011 at the Hyatt Regency Lost Pines Resort & Spa in Bastrop, Texas.

PROGRAM DETAILS

The Annual Meeting Planning Committee has secured many distinguished and knowledgeable speakers who will discuss thought-provoking issues facing the energy industry (visit Events Schedule for a complete list of confirmed speakers). Our theme for Energy Forum 2011 is Statewide to Nationwide –Policies & Perspectives on the Market's Potential for Profit. Topics for presentation in the morning will include Texas land impacts and take in-kind royalties, Texas' impact on the industry and a national perspective on natural gas & oil. The afternoon will focus on natural gas midstream & LNG, energy markets & business strategies, the evolution of market dynamics impacting supply & demand and national and international price markets & profitability. Additional speakers will also address the economy and weather impacts on the industry.

We will once again kick off the conference on Wednesday afternoon by hosting our annual Golf Tournament (for registered participants) followed by the Opening Reception for all delegates & guests that evening. On Thursday delegates will attend the full-day General Session & Luncheon and that night enjoy our final Reception with their guests. We will then host a Closing Breakfast for all delegates & guests on Friday morning.

Develop and strengthen relationships with customers and colleagues while you contribute to the exchange of vital information between industry experts and leaders at NESAs 30th Annual Meeting – make plans to participate NOW!
